Part I:v

A. A Summer's Reading

1. (iv) spends most of it in his room
2. (iii) George is behaving like a child
3. Sophie is very angry with George because she finds out that George doesn't read books. She shouts at him and takes the allowance money she gives him.
4. Mr. Cattanzara was sad because he understood that George didn't want to take responsibility of his future and didn't want to complete his education. Mr. Cattanzara knew that without education, George couldn't get a good and well-paid job that he wanted. From the story we know that Mr. Cattanzara read a newspaper for educated people but didn't have a good job.

5. Thinking Skill: Inferring

ANSWER: I can infer that Mr. Cattanzara's silence made George "a little uneasy" because Mr. Cattanzara was very important for George. He always asked George different questions and sometimes gave him a little money to buy lemon ice. I assume that Mr. Cattanzara's opinion was very important for George.

Part II

B. The Treasure of Lemon Brown

6. (iv) he wants to get out of the rain

7. (ii) he used to be a famous blues singer

8. (ii) makes strange noises

9 . He decided not to tell his father about Lemon Brown.

10. Thinking Skill: Uncovering Motives

ANSWER: Towards the end of the story, Greg got to know Lemon Brown and the story of his life better. Lemon Brown told him about his past as a famous blues singer and harmonica player. Moreover, he told about his son, Jesse, who was killed in the war. Greg felt sorry for Lemon Brown so his intention was to take care of him. That's why he said this sentence at the end of the story.

11. "Thank You, M'am" / Langston Hughes

פתרון בגרות באנגלית

The quote reflects the idea expressed in the story "Thank You, M'am". In the story, the main character, Mrs. Luella Bates Washington Jones, decides to teach Roger right from wrong after he tries to steal her purse. She takes Roger home and instead of taking him to the police, Mrs. Jones talks to Roger about her life. While talking to Roger, she mentions that she did things too. Knowing how difficult it is to become an honest person, Mrs. Jones tries to teach Roger how to behave properly and not to steal from other people. Mrs. Jones is trying to change Roger and cause him to become an honest person.

12. "The Road Not Taken" / Robert Frost

The quote expresses the same idea as the poem "The Road Not Taken". The main idea of the poem is the process of making a decision and its influence on our future. In the poem, the speaker chooses a road which is "less travelled by" and his choice shows that he is an unconventional and adventurous person. He chooses a road that fewer people have chosen and this shows us who the speaker really is.
