- ii) What change has taken place in schools in the USA.
v) Why education experts regard handwriting lessons as important.
- When people write by hand, they use important parts of their brain.
- iii) How good handwriting skills can benefit children.
- (1) When students use a computer in class, they usually type every word the lecturer says.
(2) That prevents them from remembering what they have been typing.
- ii) They think there isn't enough time for them.
- Teaching that makes students think much more deeply about the material, and that is later reflected in their exam results (paragraph III)
